'Core Value Actualization' of an Organisation

Are your organisation's Core-Values just words on a page or do they shape employees' behaviour and actively drive every action and decision? Join our One-Day dynamic workshop on 'Core Value Actualization' where we emphasize and explore how Core-Values must serve as the Vis Viva - 'The Living Force' of your organisational culture and how they can be truly embodied to transform the workplace. In this immersive workshop we delve into the ontological aspect of Core-Values which goes beyond mere acknowledgement to living and breathing these values in every facet of the organisation. This approach ensures and demonstrates that Core-Values are not just stated ideals but are integral to the daily experience and interactions of every team member.

WHY ONTOLOGICAL LEADERSHIP

Ontological Leadership simply means enlightened leadership. The idea of ontological leadership is evolving in a big way, the world over. It focuses on leadership, as a way of being, rather than just a set of skills or actions. Ontological Leadership emphasizes on self-awareness of the leaders, their authenticity and ability to inspire and influence others. The effectiveness of leaders is because of their exalted consciousness, inclusive values, firm beliefs, grounded emotions and their ability to present themselves to the stakeholders.

The principles of ontological leadership are not only highly relevant for modern-day organizations but are extremely crucial because of rapidly changing business environment, which requires the business leaders to be able to foresee, inspire, influence, and connect with others on a deeper level.
